EVERYBODY HAS PROBLEMS these days, but to pretty Mary Mason, shown with a firm grip on her new Canadian National Railways gift certificate, none as enjoyable or important as where to go for a vacation. Helping Mary choose a trip from a map of North America is her equally pretty chum, Joan Snyder. The gift certificate for rail travel anywhere was designed and introduced by the C.N.R. and is available at ticket offices across the system. Senders may also have the certificates cover sleeping accommodation and meals on trains and include pocket money as well as railway fare. They are readily exchangeable at ticket offices as full or part payment for rail travel anywhere.

Beiseker Cat Has 5-Legged Quints

BEISEKER, June 12 — Quintuplet Siamese kittens each with five legs, were born to a cat on the farm of James Rau, of the Beiseker district.

The five kittens were joined in a circular form, the fifth leg of each to the fourth or the fifth leg of another. Incessant squirming entangled them so badly that by the second day they had to be destroyed.

A less colorful brother, born separately, survived and is doing well. So is the mother.

On Alcoholism

The Calgary Albertan says that no more disgraceful monument to our disreputable handling of the liquor problem could be raised than the filthy beer parlors into which men and women are herded if they wish to enjoy a drink. It says that nobody knows the answer to the problem, but it is felt that alcoholic beverages should not be served in any public place where meals are not served. That is, beer should be sold in the hotel dining room and not in any special beer room. Undoubtedly this condition contributes to our rising population of alcoholics.

At a recent panel discussion, during the meeting of the American Academy of General Practice, doctors in the discussion agreed that alcoholism is a disease that can be treated but not cured. Doctor Selden Baron, director of the Yale Centre of Alcohol Studies, said that, contrary to the popular notion, the typical inhabitant of "Skid Row" may not be an alcoholic. Homeless men, without personal assets or ambitions, he said, may drink to excess because of the effect.

Therefore, these misplaced individuals naturally gravitate to the hotel beer parlor where they can amuse undisturbed from ten in the morning until ten at night.

Dr. Harold Loven, of New York, a psychiatrist, said that medical treatment of alcoholism must extend over a period of a year or more beyond the acute stage. The patient must have a high protein and fat diet and a low carbohydrate intake. The Right Reverend Clinton S. Quin, Bishop of the Protestant Episcopal Diocese of Texas, said that a big step toward the treatment of alcoholism would come when the public began to believe that it was not a disgrace and physicians could assure their patients that they were not immoral.

Alcoholism is one of the major scourges on the social scene in Canada. It is a disease to be treated by a combination of religious, medical and social efforts. Better understanding of the nature of the disease is necessary before the general public can be most effective in trying to help victims.

The panel, asked to explain how one could recognize an alcoholic, stated that an alcoholic was a man, or woman, whose drinking began to interfere with the pattern of fixed loyalties in his, or her life — loyalties to family, friends, job and other major goals.

Early Summerfallowing Urged

Farmers are urged by officials of the Dominion experimental station at Swift Current to begin their summerfallowing as early as possible in the spring. Weed growth should be prevented so that moisture stored in the soil can be saved for the succeeding crop. Officials at the station say that the loss of an inch of water through weed growth means a loss of from three to four bushels per acre.

Early fallowing not only increases yields, but results in a cleaner succeeding crop which is more efficient in the use of moisture.

On the average at that station 2.2 inches of moisture can be saved between harvest and seeding time the following spring. If weeds are allowed to grow throughout the summerfallow season, they use up this moisture together with what could be conserved during the May to October fallow period.

Long Distance

The editor was busy at his desk when the phone rang. An irate subscriber was on the other end. "I noticed in your paper," the reader shouted, "that you printed I was dead."

"Is that so?" was the indifferent response. "And where are you calling from?"

The Bible Today

No man, when he hath lighted a candle, putteth it in a secret place, neither under a bushel, but on a candlestick, that they which come in may see the light. — Matt. 5:14, 15.

Shame of the Gallows

A Polish immigrant, convicted of the knife-slitting of his estranged wife on an Edmonton street, is to be hung at the end of a rope, by his neck, and whether his neck is broken or he just struggles to death, he will be allowed to swing with his hands tied behind his back and a black mask on his face until he is dead.

This is Canadian law. It is a law which fails to answer the question:

"What good will it do to kill this man?" Will it bring his wife back to life again? Will it result in a sense of gratification flowing into the soul of society?

Will it dissuade other young men, in a fit of drunken passion, from committing similar acts of murder?

The wife is dead; and killing her husband will not bring back life. Modern society has, we hope, rid itself of any barbaric feelings of satisfaction over this forthcoming hanging. Crime facts prove that the threat of life imprisonment is just as effective a deterrent as the threat of hanging for murder.

How long will it take to reform our criminal laws? When will common sense prevail so that a man, convicted of murder, can be put to work for life, behind bars, where he can work out repayment to society for his crime?

Is Hitler Still Alive?

The fascinating question whether Adolf Hitler died just before the Russians entered Berlin in May, 1945, or whether he still lives, was revived recently when a Nazi submarine was salvaged off the Island of Fuen. Salvagers found huge quantities of canned foods, rotting sausages and soup cubes in the torpedo tubes of the submarine.

Investigation showed that all the tubes were stuffed with canned foods and that no torpedoes or ammunition was on board. The submarine was hit and sunk just three days before the end of the war by a British Royal Air Force plane. No log or other papers were found on board the vessel.

This submarine was accompanied by two other submarines, one of which was sunk, according to Allied records. However, there is no indication of the fate of the third submarine, which has never been accounted for. Because there were stories, during the last days of the Nazi reign in Germany, that top Nazi leaders were making plans to flee Germany by submarine, there are many who will wonder whether any top Nazis are still alive — having escaped Germany in the third sub of the three previously mentioned, or another undersea craft.

'What They Pay For'

(From the Brantford Expositor)

The moving picture theatre, which used to be a place where you could go to see and hear a picture and relax if the feature wasn't stirring, has deteriorated, in part, into a munchery for morons. There are more appropriate places in which to rustle paper bags and chew smelly peanuts, popcorn and whatnot.

And now some theatres are pestering their patrons with advertising trailers showed in between the regular film entertainment. Judging by comments heard, on occasion, however, there must be some folk who become so annoyed over this imposition that they decline henceforth to buy any of the stuff depicted.

The theatres charge a certain fee for the entertainment they offer. People who go to the theatres expect to get what they pay for, not to have forced on them something commercial someone else has paid to have inserted in the program.

It will be argued by the promoters of movie trailers that newspapers, the radio and television carry advertising. They do. But readers do not have ads forced upon them; they can read or not, as they please, depending on whether the ad interests them.

Business ethics will improve when the public applauds a man for not making profit his sole aim in all transactions.

FUA STAND ON RURAL POWER

In a recent issue of your paper, there appeared a long article on the question of Rural Electrification in Alberta. This article carried no signature, nor was it styled an advertisement, but from its content it was evidently issued by the Power Companies or someone in their pay.

In this article, the present system under which some Alberta farms are being electrified, was praised from every angle as the wisest and best possible. We were assured that the farmers love it, and want nothing else. In fact we were given to understand that any suggestion that there could be anything better, is just the idea of a few disgruntled individuals.

Actually the article, in question, is inaccurate and misleading in the extreme and is a fair sample of the propaganda whereby the private power companies are striving to maintain their stranglehold on Alberta. That propaganda is now very evident throughout the Province.

Of course it is easy to understand the enthusiasm of the power companies for the present set-up in Alberta. Under it, they are relieved of all responsibility for the rural lines, while controlling, and making large profits out of the system as a whole, including those same rural lines which the farmers are forced to pay for. That the farmers tolerate at all, this unfair and one-sided arrangement, proves the desperate need for power which exists on Alberta farms. However the fact that a farmer bows to the Power Company's terms rather than go without power, does not prove the plan suitable; nor does it remove the sense of resentment at being forced to accept a raw deal.

Now let us look at a few facts on this question of rural electrification in Alberta. First off all, electricity is needed on every Alberta farm. It is one thing, more than anything else, which can modernize a farm. If we expect to keep enough people on the farm to supply the needs of the whole population without paying too high prices for food, power must be available to the farmer. From this angle it is to the interest of all to help the farmer get power, and society as a whole can well afford to take some responsibility here.

It is probable that some 10 to 15% of Alberta farms are too isolated to be economically served from power lines. For these, help should be given by way of providing power plants, windchargers, batteries, etc. at wholesale cost. For the other 85%, or say 70,000 farms, we need a plan which will bring the power lines to all of them within a few years time. This is the job which needs doing. It can and must be done.

It is quite obvious that the system presently being followed in Alberta will not do the job, as there is no chance of 70,000 farmers being able to put up $1,000 or more apiece to build power lines. Nor should they be expected to do so. The average Alberta farmer needs all his spare cash to meet the expense of modernizing his buildings and equipment for the use of power. He should not be forced, in addition, to make a large outlay for a power line. That line should be provided by the authority which owns the whole system. Since the Power Companies have refused to accept their responsibilities in this matter, they have only themselves to blame if we advocate a different system for Alberta.

There is also the further point that in a public utility such as electric power which tends naturally to monopoly control, a public body such as a Power Commission is best fitted to do the job. Furthermore, under a Commission, the earnings of the whole system are available for its extension. Since the Government

Voice of the People

Under the present Provincial Power Commission is not subject to Federal Income Tax, and to the very considerable sums which Power Companies pay in Income Taxes could be saved to Alberta power users.

That this matter of Power Company profits in Alberta has great significance for farmers is shown in the following table:

Profits of Alberta Power Companies 5-Year Period, 1947-1951

Company Name	Net Profit Before Income Taxes	Total
ALBERTA ELECTRIC	$4,467,000	$14,187,000
CANADIAN ELECTRIC	$1,001,100	$1,001,100
Grand total 5-year period		$15,188,100

These figures are interesting to farmers for the light they shed upon where the money is going which could be used to build the rural lines.

At the end of 1951 there were supposed to be 15,700 farms in Alberta connected to power lines. The minister in charge, Hon. Mr. Robinson, has quoted $831.00 per farm as the average cost to the farmer on lines built previously. On this basis the $15,188,100 earned by the power companies during the past 5 years would have paid for power lines to connect 15,935 farms. To put it another way:

Power Company profits
plus taxes	$13,242,300
Cost of lines to serve	15,000 at $831 each 12,465,000
Difference	$ 777,300

These figures show that the profits made by Power Companies in Alberta during the last five years plus Federal taxes, which a Power Commission would not be liable for, would have paid for all the rural lines in Alberta with over three-quarters of a million dollars to spare.

In Alberta we have a Provincial Power Commission which was created in 1944. It has ample powers but has never been given the chance to use them. All the main farm organizations of Alberta, including the F.U.A., the A.F.A. and the Rural Municipal Association, have been asking the Government to put the Power Commission in charge of this job of electrifying Alberta. We have further asked that the Commission build the power lines into the rural areas without direct charge to the farmer as is done in Manitoba, and reimburse those who have already paid for lines. Of course this would require money and the Government of Alberta would have to advance large sums for a considerable term of years. But the cost would not be nearly so great as claimed by this propaganda, which is intended to frighten the public and the whole project could easily be made self-liquidating. Probably there is no province in Canada in a better position to do this job, as Alberta has large cash reserves which could be invested in our own electric power system. Actually the province is in a far better position to build the power lines than either the individual farmers or the Power Companies, because it can get additional money (if needed) much cheaper than they can.

The stand of the farm organizations on the electric power question was backed up by the rural people by large majorities in the 1943 plebiscite, and it is absurd to suggest (as the Power Companies do in their propaganda) that Alberta farmers are satisfied with the present system. In this propaganda they make the base and mean appeal to the well-to-do farmer who has already paid for his share of line to forget about his brother farmer in the less favored areas. Evidently our Power Companies are following the old idea of "divide and rule."

In the U.S.A. where public power development has made it possible to really push rural electrification, the percentage of farms electrified now stands at (Continued on next page)

THE LIGHTER SIDE

NOT SO DUMB

Farmer (pulling with 1 mule):
"Giddap Pete! Giddap Barney!
Giddap Johnny! Giddap Ralph!"
Stranger: "How many names does that mule have?"

Farmer: "His name's Pete, but he don't know his own strength, so I put blinders on him, yell a lot of names, and he thinks other mules are helping him."

ABSOLUTELY RIGHT

"Tell me, sir, who was braver than Lancelot, wiser than Socrates, more honorable than Lincoln, wittier than Mark Twain, and more handsome than Apollo?"
"My wife's first husband."

NAMES FOR ALL

A census taker asked a woman how many children she had.
"Well," she began, "there's Willie and Henry, and Martha, and—"
"Never mind the names," he said impatiently, "just give me the numbers."
His tone aroused the mother's indignation. "They haven't got numbers," she said sharply, "they all got names."

NOT PRACTICAL

"Arithmetic is a science of truth," said the professor, "earn her."

estly. "Figures can't lie. For instance, if one man can build a house in 12 days, 12 men can build it in one."

"Yes," interrupted a quickbrained student. "Then 288 will build it in one hour, 17,280 in one minute, and 1,936,800 in one second. And I don't believe they could lay one brick in that time."

While the professor was still gaspng, the smart "ready, reckoner" went on: "Again, if one ship can cross the Atlantic in six days, six ships can cross it in one day.
I don't believe that either; so where's the truth in arithmetic?"

"POSTURIZED"

The question in the physiology examination read: "How may one obtain good posture?"

The country puzzled a moment,
then wrote: "Keep the cows off
it and let it grow."

BIG EXPANSION PLANNED BY C.I.L.

(From the Montreal Gazette)

Among the major projects of industrial expansion and development currently under way in various parts of Canada, many involve the manufacture, from the basic, initial stages, of products hitherto imported in finished form, or as partly processed materials for secondary finishing. Canada, is thus establishing a still broader foundation on which to stand, on its own feet in turning out a wide variety of modern industrial products, some of them entailing complex processes of synthetic chemistry and industrial engineering.

An interesting and gratifying phase of this trend of national development, bringing reduced dependence on imports and industrial advances elsewhere, is the extent to which it is being carried out by Canadian engineers, chemists, production technicians and other experts in present-day technology. This has been made possible to a considerable degree by the training and experience Canadians have been able to glean from both universities and industry itself, especially from research and development programs of an advanced character.

The growing importance and value of Canadian-trained technical personnel are well illustrated by the expansion projects noted in the annual report of Canadian Industries Limited. The company last year embarked on an expansion program calling for a total ultimate outlay of $56 millions, which is many times the extension work undertaken in any recent year and when completed will raise investment in plants and equipment to three times the total of 10 years ago.

The two principal projects are those of rection at Maitland, Ontario, between Prescott and Brockville, of a plant for production of the basic chemicals, from fractional petroleum by-products, for manufacture of nylon filaments;
and a plant near Edmonton to produce from natural gas the primary materials of manufacture of polythene, a flexible plastic with uses ranging from insulation of coaxial cable to bags for fruit and vegetables.

The Edmonton project is to cost $13 millions, and cost of the nylon components plant, while not officially announced, is likely to run well over $20 millions. Finished nylon and polythene have been made for some time by C.I.L. at Kingston and Shawinigan Falls.

In planning these advanced projects of chemical engineering, C.I.L. was able to obtain technical guidance from its associated U.S. and British concerns—Du Pont and Imperial Chemical Industries —which developed nylon and polythene. It also had the benefit of access, for study purposes, to their plants by C.I.L. engineers. But apart from this, the construction and operation of the two plants will be entirely in the hands of Canadian technicians and production experts.

It is gratifying that Canadian resources in technical engineering and production know-how should be capable of tackling such intricate undertakings and establishing such advanced processes in Canada.

Voice of the People

84.2%. In the nearby state of Montana, where settlement is scattered and large farms are the rule, 73.8% are electrified. In Washington State, the figure is 93.7%. In our own Canadian Province of Manitoba, about 60% of the farms are now electrified.

In all these cases farmers can get power without being forced to pay for lines. After all, the most important thing is to get power to the great majority of farms.
Any system which does not do this is no good, no matter how many articles are written to extol its virtues by the people who are making money out of it.

To get action on the F.U.A. plan of rural electrification requires concerted effort on the part of the rural people of Alberta. If farmers get behind their Union and take a strong stand with their elected representatives, results will not be long in coming. On the other hand, if they accept meekly, the deal that is handed out, they will get more of the same.

In Alberta, we are up against a strongly entrenched Power Monopoly which is concerned mainly with keeping its hold for the sake of the profits to be made in supplying power to the industrial areas of the present and future.
Alberta farmers will be well advised to ignore their propaganda and get together on the demand for a new deal on rural electrification.

HENRY YOUNG, President,
Farmers Union of Alberta.

$1 for BRIGHT SAYINGS

The Editor will pay $1.00 for each child's saying printed. To qualify, items must be true, personal remarks of a child known to the writer. Address:
"Bright Sayings", P.O. Box 4868, South
Edmonton.

We were discussing the forthcoming marriage of Rose, our niece, and Grandma said that Rose would like to have our five-year-old daughter, Jacqueline, as flower girl. She agreed to be flower girl but turned to me and asked,
"But, mother, can I come back home when Rose is all married?"
MRS. JOE BAIDAK,
Chipman, Alta.

One day I made a flippant remark to my brother-in-law. He said "Say, Sis, you're bright." Then my five-year-old niece asked her Daddy, "If she's so bright, why can't you see her in the dark?"

FORMER CROSSFIELD MINISTER SCORES AS SHORT STORY WRITER

CROSSFIELD — "Writing Novels, Hobby For Swedish Preacher" — these words attracted the eyes of many Crossfielders as they looked over Thursday's Albertan and found the article written by E. Arrol was a story concerning Rev. W. Anderson, who left Crossfield United Church last year to

Cochrane-Massie Nuptials

CROSSFIELD — Westbourne Baptist Church was the scene of a pretty wedding on June 11, when Jean Berenice, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Massie of Madden, exchanged marriage vows with Keith Calvin, only son of Mr. and Mrs. C. Cochrane of Crossfield.

Rev. J. W. McDonald officiated at the early evening service.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor length gown of traditional white satin, styled with lily-point sleeves, fitted bodice which featured inset, seed pearl trimmed yoke. Her floor length veil fell from a coronet of orange blossoms and she carried a bouquet of red roses. Her only jewellery was a three-stranded pearl necklace, gift of the groom.

Miss Doris Massie, sister of the bride, acted as bridesmaid, choosing a frock of mauve nylon marquisette with matching mauve headdress. She carried yellow carnations. Ann Massie, cousin of the groom, gown in mauve net and carrying a mauve carnation and yellow rose nosegay, was flower girl.

Allan Jones attended the groom and Vernon Bouck and Melvin Farquharson ushered the guests. During the signing of the register, Gordon Elhard sang a Wedding Prayer, accompanied by Phyllis Farquharson on the piano.

Following the ceremony, a reception at the Club Cafe was held for 92 guests. Rev. J. Elhard proposed a toast to the bride. For travelling to the coast and points of interest in the U.S.A., the bride donned a navy blue dress with navy and pink accessories. Her corsage was of pink roses.

The out of town guests included Dr. and Mrs. Ben Whitcombe, Hartford, Conn.; Mr. and Mrs. Axel Anderson; Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Johnson, Rumsey; Mr. David Martin, Cutknife, Sask.; Mr. and Mrs. John Elhard, Yorkton, Sask., and Mr. and Mrs. Ted Eslinger, Burstall, Sask.

Sports Day Enjoyed

CROSSFIELD — The Crossfield Sports Day was held Monday, June 9. It was well organized and the children, especially, seemed to have a delightful time, with foot races and sports of all kinds. There were horse races and pole races for the animal lovers.

Hot dogs, ice cream and soft drinks were in the hands of W. Rowat and helpers, who seemed very busy at times.

Three excellent ball games were witnessed, viz: Carstairs beat Crossfield; RCAF, in a tight game, beat Bieseker, and Carstairs took honors against the RCAF in the final game.

There was a dance in the evening.

A larger crowd at the sports and the dance would have been appreciated, but the season has been a particularly busy one and many have combining to finish after seeding is over.

The various committees are to be congratulated on their efforts. The ball diamond was smooth, the race track in fine shape and new fences replaced the old ones.

Mr. Anderson, who was noted for his fine sense of humor, his "down to earth" thinking, open-mindedness, and his love for good literature, apparently has devoted himself to writing as well as preaching.

Mr. Anderson started writing to improve his knowledge in the English language and has published over 30 short stories and two novels not yet published. He has not only an imagination to back his stories but the rugged experiences of lumberjack, grave digger, prairie preacher, house parent together with Mrs. Anderson at Ike Inn, a hostel at the foot of "Castle" Mountain; as Swedish journalist on the Nya Wearmland, and first United Church preacher to the Laplanders, which scored him a 1939 newspaper scoop. Mr. Anderson wrote an article about this experience for the United Church Observer.

Mrs. Anderson comes from a prominent printer's family in Norway and says her husband is "easier to live with when he is writing."

Birgit, their daughter, is a clever student in school and in music, where she has secured honors. She is also a talented reader.

Mr. Anderson hopes to devote all his time to writing after retirement. Crossfielders will be waiting for the publication of his books.

Steelworkers are highest paid industrial workers in Ontario, with $1.61 an hour average at Dec. 1, 1951.

W. L. ALLISON, B.A., a recent graduate in Arts from the University of Alberta, whose appointment as Rehabilitation Counsellor has just been announced by T. A. Shandro, president of the Alberta Tuberculosis Association. Mr. Allison commenced working for the association as a handicraft instructor in 1948 while he was himself a patient at Central Alberta Sanatorium following wartime service with the Royal Canadian Corps of Signals. Becoming interested in the rehabilitation of the tuberculous, he decided to return to University to qualify himself for full-time work with the division. His headquarters will be at Central Alberta Sanatorium, Calgary.

Crossfield To Have New School

CROSSFIELD — A new school is in the offing for Crossfield, and Fred Becker and Jim Baxter have made several tours of inspection to various new schools to examine construction, size and general aspects of each, so a suitable plan may be submitted to the Division trustee, who promises to start work in the near future.

In Canada the price of a telephone pole averages $6.77.

Square Dance Finale Held

CROSSFIELD — The Crossfield Square Dance brought their series of lessons to a "grand finale" on Friday evening of last week, with 12 squares in attendance.

The club are sponsoring a big jamboree, open to the public, in the Airdrie Airport on Friday, June 27, dancing from 8:30 to 11:30. There were 35 or 40 members present to clean the place for this occasion and coffee and lunch was served. The caller, Don Martin, was present to aid in the clean-up.

The bleachers from Airdrie will be moved to the airport to accommodate the spectators. There will be a small charge for spectators and a more substantial amount will be charged per couple. There is room made to accommodate 100 squares, so the club hope to see a large crowd present.

Crossfield ball team is in third place with three wins and three losses. There will be a game between Crossfield and Bowden in Bowden, on June 18.

Feet, Eggs To Be Entered By July 17

CROSSFIELD — A message of interest to all children who are collecting magpie and crow feet and eggs is one which advises all those children to have their collections in before July 7 as that is the deadline set by the executive, in order that records may be sent to the parent association.

Mrs. P. C. McCrae, of New Westminster, who accompanied her husband, Rev. P. C. McCrae, to Toronto Assembly, is expected to pay a visit to the Lilley home, Crossfield, and to Howard Halliday, her brother, in Didsbury.

There is to be an open shower (miscellaneous) honoring Miss Ruth Hehr at the Masonic hall on Friday evening June 20, and the conveners of same invite any interested parties to attend and enjoy the festivities of the evening.

Mr. Frank Stewart, Calgary, substituted the last two Sundays in the Baptist Church for Rev. Mr. McDonald, who has had pleurisy following an attack of flu. Mr. McDonald hopes to be present this Sunday to resume his pastoral duties.

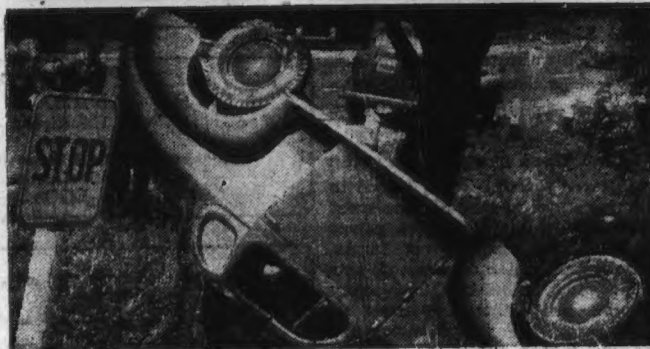

As required by The Income Tax Act, this will advise our customers that it is our intention to make a payment in proportion to patronage in respect of the year ending the 30th day of June, 1953, and we hereby hold forth the prospect of patronage payment accordingly.

This refers to Wheat, Oats, Barley, Flax and Rye sold to the Company at or through its country elevators between July 1st, 1952, and June 30th, 1953.

Weed Sprayers For Roadside And Field

Single nozzle side delivery weed sprayers designed for weed and brush control along the roadside have been on the market for the past two or three years. For roadside weed and brush control, and brush control along and under power lines they have proved very useful since the boom does not extend over the area to be sprayed. They can be made to spray a width up to approximately twenty-five feet, but to do this the spray droplets have to be large enough to carry this distance. This type of sprayer does not give as good coverage as the fine fog type nozzle on boom sprayers. In brush control, however, uniform coverage is not a problem mainly because more water is used per acre, and the large droplets are not a disadvantage.

G. R. Sterling, Supervisor of Soil Conservation and Weed Control, Alberta Department of Agriculture suggests that whether or not the side delivery sprayer will prove as satisfactory for field use for roadside spraying remains to be seen. Sprayers of this type with a nozzle inserted on each side of the machine and capable of covering a width of 45 to 50 feet are being advertised for field work. The large size of the droplets does not allow as good coverage of grain as the boom type sprayer since the volume of water used for field spraying is not usually over five or six gallons per acre. Very little experimental work has yet been done with the side delivery nozzle machine as far as field spraying is concerned, but tests are being conducted this season and experimental information will be available by fall. Until more information is available, farmers might be wise to stay with the boom type sprayer for field work.

Expropriated Land Given Court Hearing

In a legal dispute over the expropriation of a quarter section of land, owned by Mrs. Mary Pearce of Edmonton, and the government, Mr. Justice J. D. Hyndman handed down a reserve judgment.

The property, taken over in March, 1950, has been used to erect homes and other buildings. It is adjacent to Namao airport. Owner of the mineral rights to the property, Mrs. Pearce claims she has not been compensated for losing the right to develop the mineral rights.

Because the settlement reached by legal council last year was rejected by the government, a special sitting was called.

When the case came to trial last October, a settlement was reached after some evidence had been heard and under the agreement terms, the government was to pay $24,000 to Mrs. Pearce for the land surface and was not to hinder in any way, the possibility of oil wells being drilled.

Neil Primrose was council for the government and Stanley H. McCuaig for Mrs. Pearce.

RCMP Investigate Calf Strangulation

SEBA BEACH—William Ditchuk, who lives on a farm owned by R. P. Cull on the southern outskirts of the village, lost a calf by strangulation Saturday at midnight. He and his wife ran to the barn on hearing a disturbance and saw a carload of youths departing hurriedly, the calf was lying inside the barn door dead. The farm adjoins the village picnic grounds beyond 10th Street. R.C.M.P. are investigating.

Number of juvenile delinquents appearing in Canadian courts in 1950 was second lowest in 25 years and about half the 1942 record high.

LETTERS TO LOUISA

Dear Louisa:

I have a wife who is a good woman and a very good church worker. But the trouble is that she neglects her home and her children while she is doing these things that she considers her duty. She will work herself down preparing a church supper while the children and I are at home trying to find something to eat. She will be leading the missionary circle while the children are imposing on the neighbors or somewhere that they have no business to be. When I remonstrate with her about these things she always says that the Lord's work comes first with her. What can I do about such a situation?

HUSBAND.

Answer:
You might tell your wife that the Lord's work is taking care of her family and is more important than some of the other things she does. I think it is wonderful for women to support their church and to make every effort to do their part of its work but certainly not at the expense of her own family's care and training.

The mother who watches over her children's welfare and moral lives has a big job and one that should come first with her.

She doesn't have to neglect them to have a part in the church. She can do those things that can be done at times when they do not interfere with the home. Surely, she can manage matters so that the children can be cared for by someone else while she does church work.

LOUISA.

SOME PLANTING INCREASE EXPECTED FOR PROVINCE

EDMONTON—Alberta farmers are expected to plant approximately 20,000,000 acres of grain this year, the provincial agriculture department said Thursday in a tentative estimate.

Last year farmers seeded 6,364,000 acres of wheat, 2,639,000 acres of oats, 3,011,000 acres of barley, 1,400,000 acres of flax and 6,060,000 acres of rye.

"Reports indicate that similar acreages will be seeded this Spring," said R. E. English, the department's statistician. "We expect increased seeding particularly of wheat, in the more fortunate districts."

He said accurate statistics on seeding plans will be made available probably in a few days when a report is received from the agricultural division of the Federal Bureau of Statistics. The report will be based on questionnaires sent to 2,000 Alberta farmers.

Meanwhile A. W. Wilson, field crops commissioner, said that with the exception of portions of the Peace River area and a pocket of land east of Calgary, harvesting was complete.

TRAPPER LOST 3 MONTHS; ATE 4 DOGS TO SURVIVE

FORT RELIANCE, N.W.T.—(BUP)—Trapper Jack Knox, 60, is all set to return to his sub-Arctic trappings, despite a grim fight for survival while lost three months in the snow-swept barrenlands.

Knox, missing since Feb. 12, when he left his lonely cabin, 200 miles east of Fort Reliance, said he ate four of his six husky dogs to stay alive.

The veteran trapper walked into Reliance, on the tip of Great Slave Lake recently. He had a gripping tale to tell but still wore a smile on his weather-beaten face.

Knox, who was pronounced fit despite his ordeal, said that when he set out muzzling his six dogs toward Reliance he followed the usual route along a ridge for three days.

Then a blizzard struck and he mistook a break in the ridge for a signal to turn south-west to Burbank Lake. He found a "long, lean" lake, resembling Burbank, but it wasn't the right lake.

Knox was able to travel only about one mile a day at times as the blizzard continued to rage. He killed four of his dogs for food, sparing the lead dog and a puppy.

Later, the two remaining dogs, gnawed by hunger, spotted a moose and went after it. The pup returned but Knox never saw his trusty lead dog again.

After days of travel, the trapper got back on course and made his way on foot to Reliance. His pup was with him when he reached the small outpost.

Knox told Sgt. T. R. J. Ansley, Sturgeon Falls, Ont., an army signals man at Reliance, that he would be returning to his cabin soon to pick up furs he had cached after the winter catch. The trapper added that he would go back to the barrenlands next winter to continue trapping.

The Royal Canadian Mounted Police and the Royal Canadian Air Force had conducted an intensive airground search for Knox in April, but found no trace of him.

Ottawa will spend a billion dollars this year for social security, half as much as for national defence.

No Stopping This Pedestrian

An Edmonton pedestrian found his way was blocked by four cars parked across a sidewalk outside a city garage. The garage proprietors refused to move the cars so the pedestrian walked over the tops of the four vehicles.

The garage man called police. They were told they must not block the sidewalk. The pedestrian was told he must not walk on the tops of cars. The incident then was considered closed.

Electricity In House Cleaning

Spring and summer appear to be the most opportune time of year for cleaning, decorating or remodeling in the home; cleaning out closets, basements and furnaces. One great advantage in an electrically modern home is the closet light that automatically goes on when the door opens and off when the door closes. Even a light controlled by a switch just outside the closet door is an added convenience. Spring cleaning is completed in a shorter time and year-round neatness facilitated, discouraging the ravages of moths.

Another advantage is the modern vacuum cleaner, designed for fast and thorough cleaning, made possible when convenient outlets are thoughtfully placed for the purpose. This points up the wisdom of providing for such needs at the time of building, or before remodeling. To enjoy full benefits of the vacuum cleaner, each room should have outlets so placed that the appliance can be plugged in without moving rugs or furniture or disconnecting lamps. According to electricians, this calls for an outlet every 10 or 12 feet of wall space. Another important consideration is enough electric current to ensure full suction. Insufficient power makes the operation of the vacuum less effective. The size of your main switch and the size of wire in the circuits is responsible for the amount of current.

Consultation with an electrician, the local utility or Electric Service League will help homemakers meet present and future household electrical needs with adequate wiring, enough electric current and convenience outlets in keeping with floor plans of furniture. Such consultation is free of charge.

Very Well!

Pretty June Wedding Solemnized In Crossfield United Church

CROSSFIELD — The United Church, Crossfield on Saturday, June 14 at 2:30 p.m. was the scene of a very pretty wedding, when before its altar flanked with fern and lilac centre, Rev. Mr. Ball heard the marriage vows repeated by Freda Louise, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Miller of Prince George, B.C., and James Edwards, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. F. Ruddy, Crossfield.

The bride, given in marriage by Mr. Palmer Setter in the absence of her father, entered the aisle to the strains of Lohengrin's Wedding March, played by Mrs. Garnet O'Neill, and looked very lovely in a floor length white satin gown featuring tight bodice, invisible net yoke, draped shoulders and capelet sleeves of gossamer lace, which also adorned the hem of the skirt and was daintily revealed in rows where the front of the skirt was caught in lifted folds. The bodice at the back was styled with a long row of self-covered buttons. Her beautiful long veil was caught and held in place with a small sparkling bandeau. She carried a beautiful bouquet of Sweetheart roses fashioned with a wide red satin bow.

Her bridesmaid, Miss Anna Ruddy, chose a pretty sunny-yellow formal gown, with moulded bodice and full skirt. She wore an altar veil of yellow silk net with a pretty fluted net head-dress, and carried a sheaf of mauve tinted carnations.

Lorne O'Neill, Calgary (formerly of Crossfield), attended the groom.

The guests were ushered by Hilliard O'Neill, brother of the groom, and Doug. Robinson, cousin. During the signing of the register, Mrs. O'Neill, clad in afternoon gown of turquoise, with pink carnation corsage, supplied suitable wedding music at the organ. After the couple enjoyed the frivolities of a ride about town, the bridal party, together with the bride's sister, Mrs. Peterson, clad in nylon floral afternoon gown with white accessories and pink corsage, and Mr. and Mrs. Ruddy, parents, formed a receiving line in the Masonic hall, where around 60 guests were welcomed. Mrs. Ruddy chose for this occasion an afternoon gown of mauve crepe with lace trim and black accessories and wore a cream gardenia corsage.

Mr. Dewey Casey was master of ceremonies and called on Rev. Mr. Ball to ask the blessing, after which the guests were seated to enjoy a delicious luncheon, prepared and served by the East Community Red Cross group. The tables were attractively decorated with place cards, lilac bouquets, lace cloths and fine china. The bride's table featured a very pretty three-tiered wedding cake flanked by tall pale yellow tapers and bud vases of mauve and yellow columbine. Mr. Casey called on Mr. Ball to propose a toast to the bride which brought forth a fitting reply from the groom.

Others asked to speak were George Jones, Chas. Fox and N. Person. The happy couple opened many charming and useful gifts.

There were many outside visitors to the wedding and the seats were marked with lilac centered lace novelties. The Masonic hall was prettily trimmed with lilac and white streamers and clusters of white wedding bells. Profusions of lilacs, columbines, sweet rocket, lupines and other Spring

Daughters Entertain Mothers At Social

CROSSFIELD — Honoring their mothers, the members of the two CGIT's and the Garden Club were instrumental in convening a pleasant social evening on Wednesday, June 11, at which around 70 were present.

A member from the Alberta Wheat Pool and the District Home Economist, Miss Meewha, were special guests also.

Miss Meewha showed an interesting film; Joanne Copley and Mrs. Ball each sang delightful solos; Joyce Kotow led a sing-song.

Mrs. Charney was mistress of ceremonies. Mrs. Bailey gave lovely piano solos, and Barbara Bills submitted a quiz. A tasty lunch was served to all.

Farm Women's Week

Farm Women's Week, that popular annual event at the Schools of Agriculture will be held this year in July. All three schools, Olds, Vermilion and Fairview will have their Farm Women's Week during that month—Fairview, July 7-10; Vermilion, and Fairview will have 21-24.

The Farm Women's Week program is planned to include lectures and demonstrations in practical home economics topics as well as agricultural topics of interest to women. Provision is also made for recreation and relaxation from the routine of home duties on the farm. Early applications will receive first consideration, and the sooner applications are received the better will be the chance of receiving accommodation. Each school can accommodate around one hundred guests, and although priority is given to applications from those actually living on the farm, others are welcome if accommodation permits.

District Agriculturists and District Home Economists can supply information about Farm Women's Week, of application forms and particulars can be obtained from the Home Economics Service, Alberta Department of Agriculture, Edmonton, or from the Principals of the Schools of Agriculture at Olds, Vermilion and Fairview.

flowers were attractively arranged.

The happy couple left for a short honeymoon in Banff. The bride travelled in a burgundy suit, with matching accessories. On their return they will reside in Calgary.

City Boy Gets $100 Reward For Honesty

EDMONTON — Keith Waters, 10-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Waters of 11836 123 St., who found $6,990 in an envelope in a downtown lane last week was rewarded with $100.

Mrs. Nancy Ferguson-Smith of Spruce Grove, who lost the money said, "It is wonderful to know that there are honest people in the world."

Keith is a grade 4 student at Inglewood school. His mother said that the reward money will be used for his education and music lessons as Keith has been playing the piano-acordion for the past two years.

The money was found in a lane near the Hudson's Bay Co. store and Mrs. Waters immediately took it into the building where the HBC keep their trucks, and phoned the police who went at once and counted the money, and found the owner.

The Utility Room

The farm kitchen demands more storage space than does the city kitchen and must provide for a wider variety of activities. Miss Caroline Judson, Room Designing Specialist, Alberta Department of Agriculture, suggests that the ideal condition in the farm house is to have a workroom or a utility room adjoining the kitchen. The two rooms should function as a single unit, since the activities carried on in each are closely related.

The utility room will accommodate separating, preserving, laundering and other activities not directly concerned with meal preparation and serving. It may also provide space for sewing, office work, hobbies and washing up before meals. There should be space in the utility room for clothes storage and, if possible, a shower and a toilet. The utility room might even provide space for cleaning dairy utensils, dressing poultry and candling eggs if these jobs are done on a small scale.

For more information regarding the planning of a utility room write for the new booklet "Farm Kitchens and Utility Rooms." A copy may be obtained from the Home Economics Service, Alberta Department of Agriculture, Edmonton.

SOWING DAMP GRAIN

Some farmers were obliged to sow their fields with damp seed. We should be grateful indeed if farmers who did this would be kind enough to write to us, or to tell our nearest elevator agent, stating whether the germination of their crops has been satisfactory.
